the Beogram CD 50 or the Beogram CD X was the first B&O compact disc player. A prototype CD 50 was certainly shown first, in the 1985 catalogue. However, in detail this machine was clearly different from those which would finally become available over a year later, by which time the CD X was also included in the range.

Beogram CD 50 was Bang & Olufsen's very first CD player designed to be part of a stacking system and first featured in the 1983/84 product catalogue and allowed Beosystem 5000 owners to use all the buttons on the Master Control Panel 5000. Beogram CD 50 was a front-loading CD player.

Beogram CDX was a beautiful-looking free-standing compact disc player designed from the onset to be used within any system with the correct inputs. In the case of Bang & Olufsen products it was those which had a separate tape socket, or even a phono connection designed for use with a Beogram together with a built-in RIAA preamp.
